

PRESS RELEASE

Over ninety volunteers head to Camden to celebrate Martin Luther King, Jr. this Monday

Local nonprofit will host volunteer groups from Rutgers Law, Paul VI High School and Haddonfield High School

Camden, NJ January 17, 2011: UrbanPromise will host close to one hundred volunteers from local groups including: Rutgers Camden, Paul VI High School and Haddonfield High School.

Volunteers will be completing special cleaning projects throughout the ministry including: sanitizing desks, washing windows and baseboards, scrubbing walls, etc), as well as various grounds cleanup.

Haddonfield High School has been volunteering with UrbanPromise on MLK Day for 5 years. This is the second year a team from the Rutgers Camden will be coming alongside UrbanPromise. They have an expectant turn out of 30 volunteers including the chancellor and his family.

This will be the second year Paul VI High School in Haddonfield will be joining UrbanPromise. The sophomores from Paul VI high school will be volunteering as part of their preview to service, as each junior and senior at the high school is required to complete volunteer hours to graduate.

“What better way to remember a person such as Martin Luther King, Jr. but in a day of service!” Dr. Bruce Main, UrbanPromise President. “We are looking forward to accomplishing a number of projects at UrbanPromise with so many generous volunteers on Monday.”

About UrbanPromise

UrbanPromise has one clear mission, to build a city of promise, one child at a time. By equipping Camden's children and young adults with the skills necessary for academic achievement and moreover, life management, UrbanPromise has grown from a tiny summer camp program to a multifaceted institution with a reputation of solidarity and success. Among their many programs are private schools for grades k-12, after school programs, summer camps, and various other recreational and educational programs, each targeting different parts of the lives of Camden's youth.
